

England Impact Forum Seminar

1.30pm – 3.30pm Tuesday 4 October 2016 |
National Union of Students, 275 Gray's Inn Road, Kings Cross,
London, WC1X 8QB

Towards an anti-poverty skills system: What if the Citizens' Curriculum was for life?

This seminar will cover:

- Understanding the conditions needed for inclusive growth to happen
- Understanding the challenges of a changing learning system
- Understanding the challenges of a stretched public service
- Understanding the challenges for employers and sectors
- Examples of ecosystems designed to address the challenges
- An example of work towards and integrated approach to inclusive growth in a neighbourhood.

We will discuss these challenges and work towards a “call to action” to challenge the changing learning system to integrate with other systems in a way which creates the conditions for inclusive growth.

The Learning and Work Institute paper on Skills and Poverty (September 2016) provides some good background reading for this discussion.
